

Phillip Price

Associate

Phillip Price is an associate in the Houston office of Howrey. His practice focuses primarily on intellectual property law where he specializes in patent litigation related to electrical engineering matters. Since joining the firm in 2007, Mr. Price has represented clients in multiple litigations involving cellular telephones, wireless communications, and electronic handheld device architecture. Mr. Price has also represented clients in insurance and civil rights litigations as well as copyright and trademark matters.

Mr. Price’s technical background in electrical engineering has given him the skills needed to master numerous technologies that have been at issue in past cases, including microprocessor architecture, cellular communication standards, IEEE 802.11 and Bluetooth standards, Global Positioning System functionality, e911 and caller identification services, and Multimedia Messaging Service ("MMS") functionality.
